

Who We Are:

- 4B Disaster Response(4B) is a network of churches in the Houston Bay Area that were extremely active in the mucking out of homes after Hurricane Harvey and have partnered together in a large scale rebuilding effort (for the list of participating churches, see www.4bresponse.org).
- The name 4B defines the geographical scope - from the Beltway to the Beach and from the Brazoria County line to Galveston Bay.
- Eight Days of Hope(EDOH) is a national faith-based organization that has led 13 large scale rebuilding efforts across the country in the aftermath of natural disasters (see www.eightdaysofhope.com for full background info).

What We're Doing:

- 4B and EDOH are partnering to rebuild an estimated 750 homes damaged by Hurricane Harvey in the 4B area from March 10th – 24th (estimated over 20,000 homes damaged in Galveston County).
- There will be an estimated 5,000 volunteers from all over the country, at least half of whom will be skilled laborers including carpenters, electricians, and plumbers etc.
- The goal is to get homes back to pre-Harvey levels to include sheetrock, flooring, electrical, cabinets etc.
- This project will be the largest ever-volunteer rebuilding effort in the country.
- 4B will continue the rebuilding effort after the EDOH project in March, and EDOH is considering another follow up project later in the year due to the level of need in the Bay Area.

What We Need:

- The project budget is estimated at $2.1 million. Home assessments are ongoing and once complete, the budget will be finalized. 4B has preliminary commitments for over $1 million and it is looking to secure the remaining budget costs.
- These low costs per home can be achieved because of the donation of the labor, donation of some of the building materials and wholesale sourcing of the remaining building materials.
